About us

In 2016 two old school friends, Daniel Savage and Simon Henley, came together to form a new sustainable lifestyle brand, Lund London.

With backgrounds in product development, sourcing, sales and project management the duo brought to life their vision that beautiful designs don't have to come at a cost to the environment. Through the evolution of concepts and designs eventually Lund London's 'Your Drink, Your Way range' was launched. It offers a wide selection of reusable mugs and bottles, regularly refreshed with updated new designs to sit alongside our eco-friendly home collection.

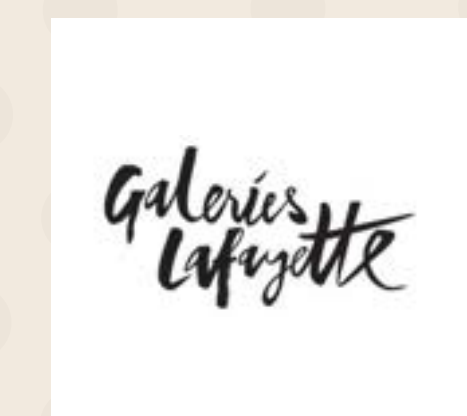

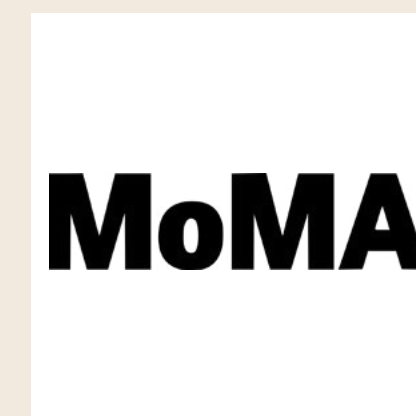

Sustainability with Style

Sustainability is at the heart of our business, that's why we're taking steps every day to reduce our environmental impact and encourage others to do the same too.

- All of our drinkware is reusable helping to reduce the need for single use plastics
- We have removed or reduced our packaging and now use only recycled and recyclable materials for all packaging
- We only work with materials that can be recycled. Over 60% of our ranges are made from one of the world's most sustainable materials; stainless steel
